Relief efforts in Louisiana

Nearly two weeks ago, Hurricane Katrina slammed into the coast of Louisiana. The 130 m.p.h. winds worked with the non-stop rain to cause immeasurable damage. Probably the hardest hit was the city of New Orleans. Parts of the bowl-shaped city were covered by almost 20 feet water. The rapid flooding caught many by surprise. In fact, as many as 10,000 people may be dead. In the aftermath of the Hurricane, many people were left stranded on roof-tops, surrounded by contaminated water. Officials claim it will be months before the water is taken out and years before New Orleans is rebuilt. The BUZZ crew challenges TEAM 8-3 to do all they can do. Donate any (even loose change) money that you can or bring in canned food. Every little bit will help.

FUN FACTS

By: MICHELLE AGUERO

• Did you know the area from the wrist to the elbow is the same length as your foot?

• Did you know that you can leave your honey out of the refrigerator for days because it will never rot or spoil!

• Did you know that President Lincoln tucked important papers inside his top hat. This is the same hat he wore on the night of April 14, 1865, when he was assassinated!

Movie Review

By: JUAN SAENZ

The Exorcism of Emily Rose

(PG-13) A 19-year old freshman in college was officially declared by the Catholic Church, as being "possessed" by evil spirits. Told in a flashback format, the movie previews the unforgettable trial of a priest accused of causing the death of this supposedly possessed 19-year old, and the lawyer who takes on the challenge of defending the priest. I think it will be the scariest movie since The Blair Witch Project!

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS GUY?

MR. "B" and his signature cup of coffee

Our "Meet the Teacher" article last issue failed to recognize one of our team's biggest supporters, OOPS! Mr. Benavides, better known as "B," spent the past few years with TEAM 8-3, but was called upon by the School's administration this year to teach an accelerated Mathematics course. He still teaches a select few of our student as well as other students from other teams. So next time you see "B" walking our halls, don't be shy, give a big salute. Don't forget to ask him about Hypotenues the Hippo.
